Applications are due at least two weeks prior to the next scheduled meeting date. The Conservation Commission meets the second and fourth Thursdays every month.

Requests for Determination of Applicability (RDAs) are primarily used for minor activities occurring only in the Buffer Zone over 50 feet from a Wetland Resource Area that would not require a significant conditions to protect the wetland, such as the construction of a shed 50 feet from a wetland. Work proposed within a Wetland Resource Area or new site disturbance will likely require the filing of a Notice of Intent (NOI).

Once the RDA application has been received, you will be scheduled for the next available Conservation Commission public meeting. The applicant or representative must be present.

The Conservation Commission or their agent will perform a site visit to confirm existing conditions prior to the public meeting. If you wish to be contacted regarding the time of that visit, please contact the Conservation Office at the time of your application.

At the meeting, the Commission will make its decision, either:

- A Negative Determination means that the applicant may proceed with the work as proposed, subject to any conditions, but no further action under the Wetlands Protection Act is required,
- A Positive Determination means that the applicant may not proceed until they obtain an Order of Conditions by filing a separate Notice of Intent application, or
- A continuation allowing the Commission the chance to request more information or a change of plans.

The applicant is responsible for complying with the Determination of Applicability issued by the Conservation Commission.
